What went well:
We successfully completed the full configuration of our server environment, enabling seamless remote testing across the front-end, back-end, and database components. This has significantly improved our ability to validate system functionality end-to-end.

What could be improved:
Task completion across sprints can still be enhanced. Although the server is now fully configured, some tasks were carried over.

What needs to be done:
We need to complete the remaining carried-over tasks and finalize all API.
